TAR 120

In this unique class, students will learn ensemble acting exercises, theatre improvisation and writing techniques, to develop a devised, original performance through a highly collaborative process. Together, we'll explore themes of the "Building Bridges" project, which aims to expand understanding of Arab, Middle Eastern & Muslim cultures through the arts. Readings, attendance at performances and special events in the "Building Bridges" series, and rehearsals outside of class will be required. Theatre majors & non-majors are welcome on this creative journey!

This project is made possible, in part, by a grant from the Association of Performing Arts Presenters "Building Bridges: Campus Community Engagement" Grants Program, a component of the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and Doris Duke Foundation for Islamic Art.
